DETAILED ACTION

Reasons for Allowance

1. Claims 1-12 are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Independent claims 1 and 7 have been carefully considered. Prior art or record fails to teach the combination of claimed elements including a graphical user interface having option areas for displaying user functions; the user can activate an instrumentality for displaying in a separate menu the functions that are displayed in the option areas.

Thompson-Rohrlich (US 5,504,852) discloses a method for creating, organizing, and displaying aliases for files stored on a computer. The aliases are created to provide an organized view of the files available to the user that meet a search criteria. A window is used to display the results of a search and organization. Thompson-Rohrlich fails to teach or suggest an instrumentality, such as an icon or sequence of keystrokes, for enabling the user to display in a separate menu functions that are displayed to the user in an option area.

Wong et al (US 6,175,364 B1) discloses a method for interfacing graphical user interface containers with graphical user interface components objects. The containers can take the form of sliding panels associated with a particular window; the sliding panels may be accessed by manipulating handles; unique colors are used to identify particular sliding panels. Wong fails to teach or suggest an instrumentality, such as an icon or sequence of keystrokes, for enabling the user to display in a separate menu the functions that are contained in the sliding panels.
